

Considering labiaplasty?

Here are some questions you should ask your plastic surgeon.

- Am I a good candidate?
- How many labiaplasty procedures have you performed?
- How often do you perform this surgery?
- Are you board-certified and by what medical board?
- Do you have before-and-after pictures of women who have had the procedure?
- Can I speak to one of your former patients?
- What are the benefits of the procedure for me, and why do you feel they outweigh the risks?
- What guidelines should I follow before surgery?
- What type of instrument will you be using to trim my labia?
- Is labiaplasty painful?
- How much downtime is there after labiaplasty surgery?
- Will the procedure enhance my sexual function?
- Are there any other surgeries that can be done with labiaplasty to improve the aesthetic and functional results?
- How long must I wait to have intercourse again after the labiaplasty?
- Will there be scars?
- When will the stitches typically dissolve?
- How much will my labiaplasty cost?
- Will insurance cover the cost?
- Will intercourse be painful the first time after the procedure?
- What if I am unhappy with the results?

For more information on plastic surgery, visit YourPlasticSurgeryGuide.com